

Jacob Receives the Blessing

Genesis 25:19-34, 27:1-40

The Story

Abraham had a son named Isaac. Isaac married Rebekah. Isaac and Rebekah were sad because they did not have children. Isaac prayed to God asking for children and God heard his prayer. Rebekah was going to have twins!

God told Rebekah that even though older sons were normally more important, her younger son would be more important than the older son.

Rebekah's first baby had red hair all over. They named him Esau. The younger son was born hanging on to the older brother's foot. He was called Jacob.

So the boys grew. Esau was a good hunter, a man who liked to be outdoors. Jacob was a shepherd and liked to stay near the tents.

Isaac loved Esau, but Rebekah loved Jacob. This was not good. God wants parents to love all their children the same.

One day Jacob cooked a stew and Esau came in from the field very tired and hungry.

Esau said to Jacob, "Please feed me with that same red stew, for I am hungry."

Jacob said, "Sell me your birthright." Since Esau was the older son, he had a special inheritance from his father.

Esau said, "Look, I am about to die, so what is this birthright to me?" So Esau sold his birthright to Jacob and Jacob gave Esau bread and stew of beans called lentils. Esau then ate and drank, arose, and went his way. Esau did not treat his birthright as he should have. Now it belonged to Jacob.

When Isaac was old and he was blind, he called Esau his older son and said to him, "My son."

Esau said, "Here I am."

Isaac said, "I am old. I do not know when I will die. Go out with your bow and arrow and hunt meat, cook it, and bring it to me. I will bless you before I die."

Was this the son God wanted to have the blessing?

Rebekah was listening when Isaac spoke to Esau. She told Jacob to bring two goats and she would make food for Isaac that would taste like Esau's cooking. Then Jacob should take the food to his father and pretend he was Esau so that he would get the blessing.

Does this sound like a fair idea?

Jacob said to Rebekah his mother, "Look, Esau my brother is a hairy man, and I am a smooth-skinned man. Perhaps my father will feel me, and I shall seem to be a deceiver to him; and I shall bring a curse on myself and not a blessing."

Rebekah took clothes of Esau's and put them on Jacob. She put the skins of the kids of the goats on his hands and on the smooth part of his neck. Then she gave the wild tasting food and the bread, which she had made and gave it to Jacob.

Jacob went to his father and said, "My father."

Isaac said, "Here I am. Who are you, my son?"

Jacob said to his father, "I am Esau your firstborn; I have done just as you told me; please arise, sit and eat my food and bless me."

Isaac said, "How is it that you have found it so quickly, my son?"

Jacob said, "Because the LORD your God brought it to me."

Is Jacob telling the truth?

Then Isaac said to Jacob, "Please come near, that I may feel you, my son, whether you are really my son Esau or not." So Jacob went near to Isaac his father, and he felt him and said, "The voice is Jacob's voice, but the hands are the hands of Esau."

Isaac did not recognize Jacob, because his hands were hairy like his brother Esau's hands; so Isaac blessed him.

After eating and drinking Isaac said to Jacob, "Come near now and kiss me, my son."

Jacob came near and kissed his father; and he smelled the smell of his clothing, and blessed him and said, "May God give you plenty of grain and wine. Let peoples serve you, and nations bow down to you. Be master over your brother. One day the Savior will come from your family."

Jacob had just left his father when Esau came in from hunting. He cooked food and brought it to his father. "Come and eat, Father, and bless me," Esau said.

Isaac said to him, "Who are you?"

Esau said, "I am your older son, Esau."

Isaac shook and said, "Who? I already gave my blessing and whoever is blessed keeps the blessing."

When Esau heard the words of his father, he cried very much and said to his father, "Bless me also, O my father!"

But Isaac said, "Your brother came with deceit and has taken away your blessing."

Esau said, "He took away my birthright, and now look, he has taken away my blessing! Isn't there a blessing left for me?"

Then Isaac said to Esau, "Indeed I have made him your master. I have given him the blessing of the Savior from his family."

Passages

James 1:14 - Each one is tempted when he is drawn away by his own desires.

1 John 3:15 - Whoever hates his brother is a murderer, and you know that no murderer has eternal life abiding in him.

Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven.

Hymn - TLH #418 v. 1, 2

My God, my Father, while I stray
Far from my home on life's rough way,
Oh, teach me from my heart to say,
"Thy will be done."

Tho' dark my path and sad my lot,
Let me be still and murmur not
Or breathe the prayer divinely taught,
"Thy will be done."
